

BALDWIN V. BUCKLEY DEBATE

Is The American Dream at the expense of the American Negro?

Here's a rhetorical question...Does our organization resemble the multicolored pencils below? Not really, but we are trying! Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) has definitely become a top priority at Energy Trust. To help amplify our efforts in cultivating a healthy, inclusive culture, we have now designated every first Thursday of the month as "First Thursday Diversity Day." Next Thursday, October 1st, Energy Trust will host a Diversity Day activity from 1:30 pm to 3:30 pm that you will not want to miss! You will witness one of the greatest debates of the century and discover the starting point for understanding the nature of the present partisan divide we are living today. Hear two intellectual heavyweights, one black the other white, both will be staking their claim on the complicated and ever changing American Dream. At the end of the compelling debate there will be time for everyone to voice their opinion in an open forum. So please, be sure to clear your calendars over the next year for "First Thursday Diversity Day" starting next Thursday, October 1st, from 1:30 pm to 3:30 pm. Our utility partners and the OPUC will also be joining us to help celebrate this momentous occasion. Looking forward to seeing you there! Until then please be safe!
